METHODIST CHURCH.

Sham M. Hall, Pastor.

It hardly seems possible that we are so near the end of our second year at Hondo; nevertheless, it is true. Our Fourth Quarterly Conference will be held Sunday evening, October 6th, which will be just two weeks from this coming Sunday, and then the Annual Conference will be just three and a half weeks following the quarterly conference. There remains much to be done between now and the meeting of the Annual Conference, which convenes in San Antonio on the 30th of October. We sincerely hope that the membership will "strive together with us in our prayers to God that God will help us in meeting our church obligations and responsibilities." Shall we not all make the closing out of our Conference Year a matter of earnest prayer? All of the Church officers and officials will be elected at the Fourth Quarterly Conference to serve for the year following this year. We are anxious for written reports from all who are to report to the quarterly conference, and we are hoping for good financial reports.

The hour of meeting for our evening services has been changed from eight to seven-thirty o'clock; therefore, you will please be on hand for the evening preaching services at 7:30 o'clock.

The board of Christian Education is called to meet at the parsonage Friday evening of this week at 7:30 o'clock. All members of the Board are urged to be present, as it will be an important meeting.

Two of the Sunday School classes will sell cakes this coming Saturday, the proceeds to be applied to our benevolences; your patronage will be appreciated.

We wish to remind the public in general of the Annual Church Dinner that will be served Wednesday, October 2nd; this will be a chicken dinner with all the trimmings. Get your appetites ready for a good dinner.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

HOLY COMMUNION

In 4 different books of the New Testament, including Paul's independent account of the Lord's Supper, we read that our Master gives the bread to His disciples and says: "Take, eat, this is my body." Again He takes the cup (filled with wine) and when He had given thanks He gave it to them saying: "Drink ye all of it; this cup is the New Testament in My Blood, which is shed for you and for many for the remission of sins." Both the bread and the wine were distributed to the disciples. We, therefore, give both the bread and the wine to the laity. For us Holy Communion is a Sacrament through which God extends His grace to us, the assurance of forgiveness in Christ, and strength to live a new life. He who does not feel the need of Holy Communion is in need of checking up on his spiritual life.

Holy Communion will be administered next Sunday morning in the German service which begins at 10 A. M. Sunday school and bible class begin at 9:00 A. M.

On Sunday, Sept. 29, the service and Sunday school both begin at 9:00 A. M. Rev. W. C. Weeber will occupy the pulpit. Your pastor will take part in the Mission Festival held at Bartlett, Texas, on that Sunday.

The attention of members and friends is called to the fact that a collection of articles, preferably canned goods from home, is being gathered for the benefit of our Orphans and Old Folks Home in Round Rock, Texas. Your gift should be brought to the parsonage not later than noon on Saturday, Sept. 28, so that the pastor can deliver them on his way to Bartlett. Your willing cooperation is needed. You may leave your articles at the parsonage any time before the above time limit.

NEW FOUNTAIN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The New Fountain Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. Geo. Bohmfalk, Sr., on Wednesday, Sept. 18. There were fourteen members and three visitors present.

After the business session a program on "Releasing Captive Bodies" was rendered.

Very delicious refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served.

The Society is planning to have a program on the fifth Sunday night, Sept. 29. "The Magic Turn," an interesting play, will be presented by some of the members. There will also be many other interesting numbers. Your presence will be appreciated.

TO MEMBERS P. T. A.

We are requested to announce a meeting of the County Council to be held at LaCoste on Saturday, October 12th. Plan to attend.

We do job printing.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson R. Waite,
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

It is an old story, but true today as always.

The success of a city is measured by the prosperity of its citizens.

When the citizens work as one for better business to build the city, nothing can stop its progress.

When the merchants stop advertising, the citizens stop buying.

When people stop buying, the merchants stop selling.

When merchants stop buying, the manufacturer stops making.

When the manufacturer stops making, many people stop working.

When many people stop working, they stop earning—and when they stop earning, nearly all business stops.

Merchants should advertise and people should buy.

When they buy, the manufacturers can sell.

When the manufacturers can sell, many people can earn.

When people can earn, they will have money to spend.

LET'S HAVE BUSINESS AS USUAL!

Start the buying movement by buying advertising.

HONDO BOYS MAKE GOOD AT SCHREINER.

Kerrville, Texas, Sept. 17.—Coach H. C. "Bully" Gilstrap, in preparation for his season opener with the Ninth Infantry from San Antonio here on September 27, rushed his Mountaineers into their second week of practice with workouts twice daily. Instruction in blocking features practice sessions as the Cadets point toward games with San Marcos, A & I, and St. Edward's on consecutive week-end starting October 4. The Schreiner men follow an open date on October 26 with successive tilts with Westmoorland, Texas University B team, and Lamar, ending their season on November 22.

Gilstrap put his men through their first scrimmage of the year Saturday afternoon and was pleased with their showing. Ted Dawson, 165-pound guard from Hondo, turned in a splendid performance in the trial test as did his fellow townmate, Carroll Jones, 165-pound halfback. Both Hondo boys look like first-string calibre.

UVALDE NEGRO IS KILLED BY HIT-RUN DRIVER.

Virgil Franklin, Uvalde negro, was killed early last Friday morning several miles east of Batesville on the Batesville-Pearsall road, presumably by a hit-and-run driver.

Franklin, who was employed on the Will Allen ranch west of Uvalde, had been to Pearsall with relatives and on the trip home the car's gasoline supply became exhausted. He walked several miles to a ranch house and obtained a supply of gasoline and it was while returning to the car that he was struck.

Passersby noticed the body lying at the side of the road. Franklin's head was badly crushed and one of his legs broken. He is thought to have been killed instantly.

The body was brought to Uvalde Friday afternoon for burial.—Uvalde Leader-News.

Deceased is said to be a son of Charlie Franklin, a well-to-do and respected colored man who formerly lived near Biry but moved some years ago to Uvalde.

W. M. S. HOLD MEETING.

The Woman's Missionary Society met in the home of Mrs. T. C. Barnes Tuesday afternoon, for their monthly program and social meeting.

Mrs. J. G. Newton, as leader, with Mesdames J. R. Chaney, K. J. Reny, O. A. Fly and Barnitz Carl assisting, gave a very interesting program on our Hospital work in Korea.

Mesdames O. A. Fly and Miss Willie Fly assisted Mrs. Barnes as hostess in serving delicious refreshments to twelve guests.

During the social hour plans were made for a dinner to be given on Wednesday the 2nd day of October. Further announcements to be made later.

CAR SHIPMENTS.

Last week's car-lot shipments from Hondo include 11 cars of corn, 3 cars of hegari, 2 cars of maize, one of broom corn and one of cattle.

The broomcorn went all the way to Philadelphia while the cattle were shipped to Houston. The car of cattle consisted of 20 fat steers that averaged nearly 1,300 pounds each.

Cotton shipments, by local freight, were 18 bales for the week. This raises the total shipment of cotton for the season to 40 bales.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to those who aided us in our sorrow and need at the death of our dear husband and father. We are especially grateful to his brother Masons. All comforting words spoken by our pastors and friends will always be remembered.

MRS. GEO. R. BOHMFALK,
AND CHILDREN.

QUIHI NOTES.

And he said, I will not destroy it for ten's sake. Gen. 18:32.

Thus ends the pleading battle between Abraham and God in behalf of the doomed cities; between "dust and ashes" and a rigorous Judge, between inexorable decrees and, if you wish, the impertinence of faith. Death is the wages of sin, and this fact is daily demonstrated, in mass destruction or in the passing away of individuals. None is a secret, how to escape the terrors of death. The Judge tempers His judgment with mercy, calling the wicked from the error of their ways. He has no pleasure in their death. And all have time to set their "house in order." But there is a time limit. So it was with those cities. They were conscious of the end of all things. They were warned by their very conscience—not one of the wicked is happy and at peace at his sinful trade. They were warned by the contrast in living of those few righteous in their midst; by the model of Abraham; by the tradition of their history of Noah, their tribal father, and the terrible catastrophe of his time, etc. Yet, in compliance with Abraham's request, for the sake of ten righteous God is willing to suspend action. Is He temporizing, vacillating, compromising? Not at all. Where there is a good showing of corn, despite the multitude of weeds, there is still a chance for a crop, and the field is not plowed under. With a good stock of god-fearing men, there is still hope for the others. These, even today, serve as a lightning conductor for the fiery bolts of God's wrath upon sin. These, perhaps unknown and despised, determine the respite for many a wicked sinner; these delay the world-wide doom.

The following children were confirmed last Sunday: Lucille Boehle, Viola Boehle, Robt. B. Breiten, Aleen Grell, Edna Loessberg, Corine Nietenhoefer, Lucille Nietenhoefer, Irene Nietenhoefer, Hilda Poehler, Ben Hy. Wiemers. The examination fairly proved that the labor of instruction had not been in vain. They made a good confession. May the Lord help them to be faithful and apply their convictions in daily life, their main test. Thanks to the efforts of their mothers, the place was richly decorated. As so often, the little building was much too small to house the worshippers who had come from near and far to witness the proceedings. The choir contributed several of its choice selections for the day. A richly decorated hanging book-mark, the donation of the confirmants, remains as a silent visible reminder of the happy day and its lasting importance. Another well-attended service was had in the evening in connection with their first communion. And now a hearty god-speed to them all.

Where no wood is, the fire goeth out (Prov. 26:20), and where the fire goeth out in spite of plenty of inflammable material all around, we must see the protecting hand of God in a remarkable way. Mr. Geo. Balzen and family had this novel experience. Coming home from church last Sunday, they found that fire had raged in several rooms, burning down wall paper, curtains, shades, linen covers, scorching furniture, breaking window panes and eating through wooden walls, and not a soul at home. It was all over upon their return. The house stands intact. The damage is comparatively small. Who had stopped those flames? Bless the Lord, O my soul!

Announcements for September the 22nd: German service at New Fountain at 10 A. M. Sunday school and Junior Bible class at 9; Luther League program at 7:45 P. M. Again you are cordially invited.

OLDEST CERTIFICATE TO TEACH IN TEXAS OWNED BY ITALY MAN.

The original of what is said to be the oldest extant certificate to teach school in Texas is owned by P. P. Brewster of Italy, Ellis County, who exhibited the document in Dallas Tuesday. It probably will be made available for display at the historical exhibit of the Texas Centennial at Dallas.

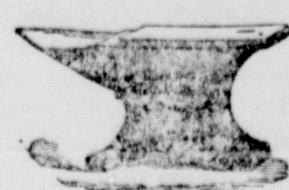

The certificate is dated Castroville, Medina County, on August 30, 1853, and is signed by A. H. Noonan for the local Board of Education. It certifies that Joseph Kempf "is qualified to teach, in the English language the subjects of spelling, reading, writing, arithmetic, geography and grammar." Mr. Brewster quoted Dr. Frederick Eby of the education faculty of the University of Texas as saying that this is the earliest Texas teacher's license he has ever seen.

Mr. Brewster, formerly superintendent of schools at Hondo, near the old city of Castroville, acquired the document several years ago.—Pearsall Leader.

A THOUGHT.

Sometimes it is more becoming to play second fiddle than first violin.—Gloria Young.

WHAT ABOUT "SEED" FOR THE FUTURE.

A perusal of important provisions of the Revenue Act of 1935 (the "soak-the-rich" tax bill) should satisfy the most ardent "share-the-wealth" advocate.

For the past several years, leading tax boosters in Congress have pointed out that this country could stand still higher taxes because our levies on business and income had not yet reached the figures in leading European countries.

Just why we should try to break the European record of debt-ridden and bankrupt nations, has never been explained. But our congressional tax boosters have apparently won their goal. Along with breaking many other world's records, we will apparently soon claim the high tax record—if we have not already secured that unenviable distinction.

When one reads over the percentage of earnings taken by the various income taxes surtaxes, corporation taxes, excess profits taxes, capital stock taxes and estate taxes, etc., one begins to wonder what the future of American earnings and savings will be.

Take the surtaxes alone: They start at 31 per cent on $50,000; then 51 per cent on $80,000, 73 per cent on $100,000 and 75 per cent on over $500,000.

If a man leaves an estate, the tax ranges from 2 per cent on net estates up to $10,000, to 70 per cent on estates over $50,000,000, with a $40,000 exemption.

What inducement is there for an individual who has worked and saved money, to invest it in an undertaking that would employ labor? Why run the risk?

The American people are hardy. They are pioneers. They are energetic. They want to do things. But the mounting trend in taxation and the confiscatory inheritance taxes which destroy life-time savings, may break the heart of private initiative and enterprise.

It will be a grim crop the tax gatherer reaps as he starts harvesting the estate taxes of America. He may gather one good crop from each family but in his greed, it looks as if he would fail to leave enough seed to provide "profitable" income or inheritance taxes in the future.—Industrial News Review.

FASHIONS IN FREEDOM.

"Al" Smith, one of the nation's leading citizens, former governor of New York and Democratic candidate for president, is respected by all for his integrity, his sincerity and his shrewdness in analyzing public questions. As the principal speaker at a recent dinner in New York, he said to his hearers: "Keep your eye on the Constitution."

About the same time the German State Secretary in the Reich Ministry of Justice was informing a public gathering that the will of Hitler is the supreme law of the land.

In the United States the Constitution is the supreme law of the land and the lives, liberties and fortunes of our people are not subject to the will of dictators.

But "Al" Smith knows, as do other statesmen, that there are definite designs in our own United States to revise the Constitution as a document outworn—as though there were fashions in freedom. This design has shown itself in suggestions to deprive the highest judicial branch of government, the United States Supreme Court, of the power to effectively uphold what is left of the Constitution.

If any think this is not a step in the direction of intolerant dictatorship as we witness it in the rest of the world, let them think again!

The legislative attempts of the past several years to circumvent the Constitution, have been plain and only the power of the United States Supreme Court to pass on such acts, has saved the American citizen his personal liberties and his property rights, and prevented him from having the chains of dictatorship forged upon him.

Take heed of the advice of men who today put country above party and stand for the perpetuation of unadulterated Americanism fostered and encouraged by Constitutional government unchanged in principle from its original design.—Industrial News Review.

You can't blame Dick Powell for looking up, when there's someone like Josephine Hutchinson above. They star in First National's "Happiness Ahead", now at the Colonial. Allen Jenkins, Frank McHugh, Dorothy Dare and John Halliday are in the supporting cast.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Burrell and daughter were over from Castroville Tuesday visiting Mrs. Burrell's sister, Mrs. Aug. Schneider, and family.

Beauty Hints

By Jane Heath

GRAB a pair of tweezers on a dainty pair of manicure scissors, and what have you? Twis-sors, of course. They're the latest type of eyebrow tweezers and are warranted to do a clean and accurate job of grooming because they are so easy to handle and grip so firmly. In addition they allow the user an unobstructed view not possible with ordinary tweezers. A feminine touch is added to the handles, which are tinted in a choice of six boudoir colors.

It is no longer considered smart
to pluck the eyebrows into pencil-
thin lines which destroy the whole
character of the face.

Today's aim is to retain individuality in eye make-up, which means following the natural curve of the brows when shaping them. Use
tweezers daily to remove straggly
hairs below the arch and across the bridge of the nose. This will produce that well-groomed appearance so desired by the fastidious woman.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Rogers are
in receipt of a letter from their son, Joe Rogers, stationed in the Philippine Islands informing them that he has just been commissioned a Major in the cavalry branch of the United States army. Major Rogers, who was at that time a student in Texas A.
and M. College, volunteered for service at the entrance of this country
into the World War in 1917. He came out of the war a Lieutenant,
took up the regular army as a profession, later earned a Captaincy and now takes another advance step. He and his family spent part of his furlough here last summer, before being transferred to the Philippines.

From a press dispatch to the Dallas News of September 18th, we learn that among 280 promotions in the foreign service, recently made by the State Department, six are Texans.
Among the six is William P. Blocker,
Hondo, Medina County, Texas, until recently Consul at Ciudad Juarez, Chihuahua, Mexico. Blocker was promoted from Class 5 to Class 4, the latter class paying from $6,000 to $6,900. He has seen long consular service in Mexico. Before his late station as Consul at Ciudad Juarez, Chihuahua, he was at Mazatlan, Guy-mas and Piedras Negras. He was assigned to the latter city as Vice-Consul in 1915. He has only recently been transferred to an important
post in Cuba.

We were pleased to greet our long-time friend, George Heyen, on the streets of Hondo Tuesday. Mr.
Heyen is now 82 years old and his sight is so impaired as to render his getting about somewhat hazy. He still maintains a cheerful outlook
on life, however. Says he has lived long, seen much and knows from experience that a friend in need is a friend indeed. During his long life
he has always had his daily bread and
been able to pay his debts and so
today he owes no man anything
save his good will. What a wholesome philosophy of life is this—to earn ones daily bread in honest toil,
to pay ones just debts to his fellow man and be a friend to all! What more could a man do?

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Brucks left last

Mr. Lawrence C. Owens, which took place at the home of Mr. Owen's sister, at 8 o'clock P. M., in the presence of some intimate friends

performed by Rev. Fred J. Brucks.

ant trip, Mr. and Mrs. Brucks re-

Feeding Civilia
Instead of Arm

More Profitable
Than Waging Wa

WHEN you have read "The
of Glory", probably the talked-of book on the Great since "All Quiet on the West-Front", it seems rather increasing to discuss foods that ar-armies fit. You find yourself
ing—fit for what?

It is well, however, to consid-
the use of some of these foods
which military authorities have found sustaining for soldiers,
make for a race of better citizens.

Foremost, among army ration probably, is canned meat. "Be-Beef" has gone down in war sea-and stories with as many versas there are verses to "Madame selle from Armentieres". And
the housewife, who is keeping her family fit and with sufficient energy for "the last long mile"
canned meat has a distinct use.

To Keep Them Fit

Suppose, for example, that there are lunches to be prepared —lunches for hikers, lunches for swimming, after tennis, or some heavy exertion. The steak in the refrigerator is reserved for dinner, yet a vegetable luncheon is not sustaining enough. It is impossible to go to the pantry, and choose at will between corned beef, veal loaf, ham loaf, and tongue or any of the many can-meats.

It is important to know de-
cious ways to prepare these meats to vary them. Ham loaf is particularly good with pineapple
veal loaf sautéed and served with fresh asparagus is temptingly
canned sliced tongue with masroni and cheese is a very sustaining meal; and canned steak and onions can be made into a steak sandwich served on toasted rolls and garnished with sliced mushrooms if you like.

Farms and ranches alongside
Texas highways will keynote Centennial visitors' impressions of the State.
The Centennial Farm and Home Demonstration Contest announces
by the Extension Service is an effort to enroll every family living on Texas highway in one great big reception committee to create a "smiling countryside" welcoming visitors to the birthday party. Response to the announcement of the contest has been inspiring. Dallas News representatives met when they went out to raise $2500 for prize money for the contest. Commercial firms generously to stimulate enrollment
in the state-wide movement to improve the homes and farms and ranches by which the State will be judged in 1936. Newspapers all over the state have joined hands in cooperation with the News as representing the city where the principal Centennial event will be celebrated. Good editorials and generous inches of space are being given to promote the movement. Radio announcers on commercial programs are telling about
it. The Sister State of Oklahoma plans
to "pretty up" the highways leading into Texas. Extension Service agents
aided by the men and women and boys and girls who have worked with them heretofore are helping Texans
on the highways to make plans for improvements based on Extension Service standards for country home of comfort and beauty. Everybody wants the contest to be a success because Texas will be host to the Nation in 1936. Texas pride is involved.
Texas pride is our pride. The nation's opinion of the homes and farms and ranches of Texas matters to every Texan. So enrollment will not represent alone a desire to win one of the big prizes but will be a measure of Texas's love for their State.

GREATEST CIRCUS COMING THIS WAY.

Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined, Presenting Hundreds of New Foreign Features, in Seven-Ring and Stage Program Declared to Be Finest in History.

Offering its millions of patrons the largest and best program in its brilliant annals, the mighty Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus, is scheduled to exhibit in San Antonio, Saturday, Sept. 28, and on that date the world's largest big top will be filled with sensational new features from all over the globe, including the top-most arena acts of every European nation, except Denmark.

The Greatest Show on Earth will arrive on four long railroad trains of double-length steel cars, carrying 1600 people, seven herds of elephants, 1000 menagerie animals and 700 horses, to say nothing of 31 great tents and countless tons of rigging, grandstands, properties and paraphernalia.

New European troupes are the Walkmirs, Antaleks, Romeos, Maschinos, Poliss, Buemrangs, Demenatis, Willos, Lauries and Torrence-Dolores—sensational aerial and acrobatic novelty offerings. The largest aerial ballet ever produced, led by the Lydia, the Rooney, the Annetta and Nellyta troupes, and the largest liberty horse act ever seen are new thrills from abroad.

Mile. Gillette, who leaps from the dome of the big top; the Otaris, who fly in masses from an aerial cross; the two Wallenda troupes in new hair-raising high wire feats; Dorothy Herbert, riding fearless hurdlers over fire jumps; the great Con Colleano, forward somersaulting star of the tight wire; the largest acrobatic display ever seen, with the Yacopis, the Danwills, the Uyenos, the Yom Kams, the Demenatis, the Hadjis and Hassans; the celebrated Loyal-Repskis, the famed Rieffenachs and the great Walters, bareback riding stars; the two Guice Troupes of comedy aerial flyers on the lofty bars; the Flying Concellos, with Antoinette, only girl ever to accomplish a two-and-a-half somersault to hand-to-hand catch; the famed Flying Comets; Hugo and Mario, who are fired in a split second from the mouth of a giant cannon across the upper reaches of the big top—these are but a few of the preeminent artists among the 800 performers with The Greatest Show on Earth—Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey.

Still another feature is Col. Tim McCoy, the screen's most outstanding western star, at the head of his congress of rough riders of the world—cowboys, cowgirls, Cossacks, Mexican vaqueros, Australian bushrangers and Plains Indians. Col. McCoy, scout, soldier and friend of the Indian, idol of American youth, will also present his Indian Village in the center of the vast menagerie oval.

Queer things sometimes get into print because human beings all make mistakes. Now and then a newspaper reporter writes copy carelessly, etc. Here are a few of the "best bets" in such reports:

"Touches live wife, man hurled 35 feet."

"Wanted—Saleslady. Must be respectable until after Xmas."

"For Rent—Lovely furnished room in private family with bath on car line."

"Experienced salespeople wanted. Male or female. No others need apply."

"For sale—A folding bed by a lady that shuts up and looks like a piano."

Euripides had just passed the examination at the army recruiting station. He said to the examiner:

"Boss, ah'd like to ask one favor now that youse goin' to put me in the army."

"And what is that," patiently asked the examiner.

"Don't put me in the cavalry, 'cause when Ah's told to retreat Ah don't want to be bothered with no hoss."

It is called Alka-Seltzer because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink, and as it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of every-day ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid.

After trying many brands of medicines—so-called relief for gas, and all of them a failure, I gave up hopes. By chance I tried Alka-Seltzer—I am more than satisfied. Geo. Bennett, New York, N. Y.

Given under my hand this 14th day of September, A. D., 1935.

If you approve of FARMING fight for a free and prosperous agriculture support it with your subscription.

One of agriculture's serious handicaps is the lack of storage facilities on the farm for caring for and protecting the products of the farm. Knowing this and knowing that the farmer knows he must rush much of his produce to market as rapidly as possible after the harvest, the speculative world takes advantage of his unpreparedness to beat down his price. The farmer's best defense against this, as well as assurance against his own need later on, is to store and keep all he has the means for holding.

With few exceptions the chief if not the only dependence of the country town for its maintenance is the farms that surround them. The products of the fields, the pastures, the orchards and the gardens is the only wealth created whereby the business of such town can be built and maintained. Since, therefore, the town owes its very existence to the farm, it behooves those interested in the welfare of the town to concern themselves in the welfare of the farmers. The best way for the town to promote the welfare of the farm is to provide the farmer with the widest and most profitable market possible for his produce. A good market for his produce secures the farmer's good will for the town; such good will is the town's most valuable business asset. Once lost it is hard to regain.

If resentment on the part of the temporary beneficiaries of the processing tax at those who resent having to pay it leads to a court test of the levying of a "protective" instead of a "revenue" tariff tax the deplorable mess of the AAA will not be without its compensation—like the Indian's application of fire to a sore, the heroic treatment may cure. Regardless of what may be the "Supreme Court's last guess is the law in the case", the fact will remain that no government has a moral right to levy a tax for any other purpose than to maintain the government economically administered. Any tax that takes money without fair recompense out of the pocket of one and gives it to another works an injustice to the one taxed—impoverishes the one to enrich the other—and both the protective tariff and the processing tax do just that unholy thing. The protective tariff tax has contributed largely to the impoverishment of the farmer; his relief should come through abolishment of the tariff, not through finding a victim to impoverish through processing taxes.

From the Whitehouse down to the humblest trough-feeder in the government service much hullabaloo is being made with the claim, to use the President's own words, "that cotton has gone up from 4 1-2 to 12 1-2 cents" as a result of the AAA program. Is it altogether fair or in accordance with facts to make such a claim? Last year's cotton crop was a little over nine million bales, the carry over from last year is nearly nine million bales, and of this nine million some six million are still held by the government as security for a 12c loan. In the meantime, foreign exports of cotton declined from almost eight million bales for the year ending July 1934 to 4,826,000 bales for the year ending July 1935. Would it not be more in accordance with a Square Deal to wait until the cotton now held under a mortgage at a figure above the world price is finally sold and ceases to be a menace to future prices before boasting of the high selling price? Until cotton has moved into the spinners' hands it cannot be said to be really sold and may boomerang on the farmer to his loss of profitable markets for his new crop.

THE EDITOR'S TURN-ROW

IN THE BALANCE.

"Ask any business man, investor, property owner or thinking worker what is most needed to give the nation the confidence, the spirit and the optimism that will break depression.

"You might get the same answer from each: 'Tax reduction, plus a determined policy that will balance the budget as soon as possible, and gradually reduce and eventually eliminate the vast national debt.'

"Real, permanent and sound recovery cannot arrive so long as industry faces the prospect of confiscatory taxes that will seize whatever profits it is able to make. We cannot have a wave of home-building so long as our citizens realize that increasing taxes may soon make it impossible for them to keep their property. We cannot have re-employment of the jobless so long as investors are afraid to put their money into productive enterprises—because rising taxes imperil both principal and income.

"The national debt is approaching the $35,000,000 mark. Hundreds of millions of dollars a year are required to meet the interest. More hundreds of millions are required for sinking funds with which to pay off the bonds when they fall due. Long after the money has been spent, and the things it bought have disappeared, we and our children will be paying the bill.

"The Federal government has attempted to 'spend us back to prosperity'. In the view of many unbiased commentators we would have gone a long way farther toward recovery had spending been held down—in other words, the government's policy, in their belief, has hindered and not helped the nation. Yet more spending is in prospect—and more taxes.

"The people want tax reduction. Business wants tax reduction. Investors and workers want tax reduction. Unless it is achieved, the nation's economic future is in the balance."

All of the which, taken bodily from the Industrial News Review press sheet, is as true as gospel.

But like too many writers of the present time, Mr. Hofer stops too soon; stops with a prescription for some of the complications and symptoms without diagnosing the disease that afflicts us or prescribing a cure for it.

Our ills were superinduced first of all by high finance, working through the agency of the Federal Reserve Banking System, cornering the supply of cash.

In order to effectuate the "corner" they withdrew loans, refused extensions and ceased making new loans.

Ready money poured into the coffers of the manipulators to be invested over and over again in tax exempt government bonds and our bonded debt mounted to incomprehensible figures with its inevitable attendant increase in taxation.

In the meantime, business languished for lack of circulating medium, confidence was destroyed, unemployment stalked the walks of industry and the miseries we denominate "the depression" descended, like a curse, upon the land.

Lack of credit facilities (which means ability to secure adequate cash) being the cause of our ailment, a restoration of liquid financial resources is the remedy; the first requisite for the restoration of "the confidence, the spirit and the optimism that will break depression."

It cannot be secured by plunging the country further and further into bonded debt to hand out miserable doles, pay rental on idle acres or buy unborn pigs to murder.

It must come by breaking the corner on cash.

That must be done by taking from special privilege the power to control the issuance of credit currency, restoring that power to the government and using it for the good of the whole people.

It means stopping the further issuance of bonds for the benefit of bondholders and the substitution thereof of national currency—the kind with which Abe Lincoln won the Civil War.

Until this is done, until men like Mr. Hofer see the light and lead the way to it, the masses must remain in industrial darkness and in chains.

When will our leaders in thought and action see the way, make straight

the ways that are crooked, lead the blind, befuddled masses by ways they know not and not forsake them?

That way lies industrial freedom and prosperity for the industrious, the frugal and the wise—a boon now denied all save the money monopolists!

JUST TOO BAD.

Fletcher's Farming,
Hondo, Texas.
Gentlemen:

You will please discontinue sending your publication to me. I am thoroughly disgusted with such ideas as you advocate AGAINST OUR GOVERNMENT and do not care to longer receive your publication.

When I gave my subscription, I thought I was receiving a farm journal in the interest of the agricultural interest of this state, and especially the growing of pecans, but I am disappointed in the same and therefore do not care to receive the same any longer, although my year's subscription which I paid in advance has not yet expired.

Yours very truly

Now isn't that just too bad!

Of course we shall accommodate the gentleman.

And we would let it go at that if it were not for two very common errors into which the gentleman falls.

No man has a profounder respect or deeper love for "OUR GOVERNMENT"—a representative democracy—than has the editor of this paper.

But we have an abiding contempt for the way it is being ADMINISTERED for the most part right now.

A man big enough to hold a servant's position under the government, as does the writer of the above, should at least be wise enough to know the difference between the GOVERNMENT and the ADMINISTRATION—the one a heritage from our liberty-loving forefathers; the other the accident of a muddled politics.

It is the weakness of small minds when they become the beneficiaries of political accidents to imagine they and their bunch are THE GOVERNMENT.

The gentleman's idea of what constitutes the "interest of the agricultural interest" is equally at fault.

He labors in vain for the interests of agriculture who labors at all without laboring first of all for a political policy that seeks "equal rights to all without special favors to any" and an economic system that protects every man in his "right to the pursuit of happiness" in his own way and the full enjoyment of the fruits of that pursuit.

Hence FARMING has no apology to make for covering a broader field than that to which the gentleman would confine us, even though that broader sphere sometimes leads to the less agreeable task of forking politics instead of compost.

When President Roosevelt was asking for advice—and either refused to heed it or did not get it—the leaders of the party who should have been his counselors saw him cut loose from the time-honored moorings of Democratic principles, load the ship of state with a super-cargo of ill-advised experiments and plunge out on an untried sea of paternalism and socialism. Now that it is too late to turn back from his ruinous course and make safe anchorage in the haven of Democracy, criticism is plentiful and to spare; but it is coming, not in the form of the long and sadly needed counsel but in a storm of partizan rancor that would profit out of the mischief that has been done and add still further to his discomfiture. The man who says "yes" to you when you are in error does you the worst dis-service.

If FARMING pleases you it will please your neighbor.

FARMING MUST GO ON.

The last issue of Fletcher's Farming, published at Hondo, has the following:

With this issue of FARMING the paper enters its XIV volume. There has been a terrible mortality among farm papers during the past five years, but, thanks to its friends, FARMING still goes on. Won't you be of that number who are helping us carry on?

Fletcher's Farming is a fine farm paper, devoted to the best interests of farming. Hence it is only natural FARMING should go on, despite the fall of other farm papers!—FRED B. ROBINSON in Waco Sunday Tribune-Herald.

When we went to Grove Meeting
On dear old Liberty Hill,
Camp Meeting was in progress
And the summer air was still.

How well I remember the hill-side
Where it was hard to walk,
The ground was covered with gravel
Almost as white as chalk.

The hill was clothed with cedars
Open spaces were here and there,
At one of these we gathered
And worshipped and knelt in prayer.

We met in the late afternoons
When the sun hung low in the West,
And a peaceful atmosphere
Had wrapped the valley in rest.

Experiences, songs, and prayers
Were wafted upon high
By love and deepest gratitude
And we felt God's presence nigh.

Our hearts were full of happiness
Yes, peace was everywhere
When we went to Grove Meeting
And the women led in prayer.

OKLAHOMA DUST STORM.

Out of the mouth of Hades, shot
A writhing spume of dust
Upon the farming lands, destroying
Like a scourge of rust.

Through every window, down the flues
Under each tight door sill
This seething, smothering, crushing mass
Of Vengeance, wreaked its will.

The frightened rabbits sought escape,
They hid from this new wrath:
But they were buried secretly
Beneath a dust-strewn path.

No road led out, nor refuge came
For man or beast of prey—
The hours grew into days of woe
Before it went its way.

—TUMBLEWEED.

ONE MORE SONG TO SING.

Now Summer goes
With slow, reluctant feet
Down the highroad of the Seasons—
I would stay her flight
With song for bribe,
Song, light as silver spray—
Stay, Summer, stay, I plead
Only one more song to sing!

She says no word,
She sings no song,
Only on my outstretched palms
There lies a sheaf
Of golden leaves—
And Summer is gone!

—MARY OCTAVIA DAVIS.

TO MY DEPARTED.

When the day is nearly spent
I grow even more content;
In the twilight when you greet me,
In the evening when you meet me,
When the work of day is done
And my soul and yours are one.

Each tomorrow, without measure,
Holds for me the greatest pleasure;
Thoughts of you whom I have kissed,
Thoughts of you whom I have missed,
And we shall keep our rendezvous,
You with me, Dear, I with you.

SAFE LANDING.

Above Alaska's tundra, into the murky sky,
A scarlet plane soared northward,
"Just somewhere" there to fly.
Within this ship sat Rogers, with Wiley at the helm,
No likelier pair of aces were known in all the realm.
Courageous sons and noble, both loveable to folks
The whole world claimed their Wiley's stunts and Will's familiar jokes.

But from the home eternal, the Giant Spirit spoke.
Will heard his fathers calling—and Wiley's mind awoke
To feel the earth receding and Heaven looming near—
How sweet to be together and have no thought of fear.
We of the earth will sorrow and long to touch their hand
But He who "guides the sparrow" will help them safely land.

LITTLE WALKS IN THE GARDEN.

FARMING'S modest efforts to encourage an appreciation of the poetry of farm life attracted the attention of Emory E. Hayes in the Greenwich Village edition of his Poetry and Art Reporter. Besides a gracious compliment to FARMING'S efforts, he pays a deserved compliment to one of our frequent contributors, Mrs. Elizabeth Giles Winn, "The Poetess of the Sunny Southwest".

We are indebted to our poet friend, Flozari Rockwood, for a copy each of The Modern Bards, an anthology of modern bards, and Moods of Earth by Margaret Elizabeth

Holmes, two brochures of poetry. As well as being selections of lovely verse, they are typographic gems, the work of The Pegasus Press, 1309 Payne Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

LITTLE PIONEER.

The meadow lark sings to the rising sun,
A new day's plowing is fresh begun;
The hired man shouts, the big iron grays
Tighten the tugs and the sod-plow sways,
Steadies again as the share bites deep
Breaking the daisies' nodding sleep;
While spiderwort, mallow and feverfew,
And prairie grasses drenched with dew,
Tremble and fall from the sod-bright share;
The little boy follows, his brown feet bare,
In the cool, moist path of the plow.

Helping his father putting up fence;
New posts sunk through grass roots dense;
Stretchers come taut; the new wires sing
Down a shining half-mile, and bright barbs sting,
Pungent and sweet in his freckled nose
Is the trampled-out scent of a crushed wild rose;
Mussel shells, white, in a dry creek bed;
Sharp-eyed hawk in the sky overhead;
A ground squirrel runs, a cotton tail hides,

In a world all sky and plain.

Velvet soft the swift night falls;
A cricket sings, a hoot owl calls;
On the purpling dark the fireflies blink;
From the far-away sky the little stars wink;
A coyote barks, the plains wind sighs,
From the new-built fence a bull bat cries;
A tired little lad with tousled head

With delights of the day his dreams are bright;
And sharp on the air of the prairie night

EVENING SKY.

The sunset ever holds a glory new—
A bright effulgence spreading overhead;
A delicate pastel in filmy web
Of overlay atop an ashen hue.
Perhaps some glorious display is due
To after-glow of burnished copper-red;
Or maybe only paling blue is spread
In cooling, peaceful loveliness of view.

Whatever splendor on the evening sky
Presents the special treat when day is done,
I always shall recall with ecstasy
The turquoise curtain, like a lullaby
For silver thread of new-born crescent spun,
With one star of surpassing brilliancy.

While I in dreams re-live a sun-filled day?
I left the glorious mountains of the West;
'Tis true the flowers bloom upon my window sill,
But nothing ever takes the place of you;
And oh, my blue eyes very often fill
As I look westward when the skies are blue!

A dear old house upon a hill,
Where roses climbed a garden wall
And golden sunbeams filtered thru,
Where purple lilac shadows fall,
A doorstep where a cricket sang,
An old road leading far away
That seemed to lure my restless feet
And so—I followed it—one day,
But how I miss that evening chorus
The cricket song, the Whip-poor-will.

AN OLD ROMAN LAW
And Its Present-Day Significance

There was an old Roman law relating to bank deposits to the effect that a depositor who left his money only for safety ranked before a depositor who received interest for his money.

Today, in America, each of those depositors is protected against loss in insured banks. Whether or not their funds earn interest makes no difference. All depositors of an insured bank, share in the benefits of Deposit Insurance.

Deposits up to $5,000 in This Bank are Insured by

BY THE WAY.

We have a football game next Friday (Sept. 20) with Pearsall, on Barry Field. Let's all be there to yell for the Owls and show them
that we are backing them. Let's keep up the "ole Hondo High spirit" and
be that twelfth man.

The freshmen seem to be "catching on" quicker this year than usual.
I wonder what's the matter?

If you want to learn "What NOT

Jr. Fly. He told us all about it in English class.

Have you noticed the H. E. girls'
smocks? They are quite attractive.
(Both the smocks and the girls!)

If anyone has any original work,
poetry, wisecracks, or otherwise,
please see the editor of this paper at once. If you don't see us, we'll see you, because we know who you are!

Out of the group of boys and girls
who started to the Hondo School in 1925 there are nine who have come to the last year of their High School career together. They are Wilma Barkuloo, Evelyn Barnes, Henry
Bendele, Oreeneth Fly, Hugh Meyer,
Jean McCall, Gracie Reily, Fern Ul-
brich, and Anna Laura Welhausen.
We wonder what has happened to all the others who started. Let's all join together in wishing these nine seniors much luck and many more
years of association.

THE SENIORS.

The Seniors held a class meeting
at 12:30 Thursday noon. We concluded the election of our class officers. (At a meeting last Monday the president, Gracie Reily, and vice president, Hugo Schweers, were elected.) The president took charge of the meeting, and the following remaining officers were elected: Hugh Meyer, secretary; Florence Zuber-
bueler, treasurer; and Ethelyn Ney,
reporter. We hope they will all try to do their best, and we are sure they will. The Seniors, you know, always try to be first in everything. We did succeed in electing our officers first.

THE OWLS OF '35.

The younger boys of Hondo High
seem to have a great interest in football this year. Most of those who are out for football are young and inexperienced, but in them, Hondo High sees the football team of future years. There are, however,
several lettermen back this year, including our new captain, Benny Oefinger.

Both the old and new players are trying very hard to be in shape for the first game of the season, Friday,
Sept 20. Our opponent will be Pearsall, but the Owls have the advantage of playing on their own field.

—Owlets—

YELL PRACTICE.

All the students of Hondo High,
with the exception of the football
team, met in the auditorium Monday morning for yell practice. Sis Merritt, last year's yell leader, was in charge. The students were told to be thinking about yell leaders for this year.

During this practice the football team met in the history room for
"skull" practice.

Come on, Owls! We'll be yelling
for YOU!

—Owlets—

TENNIS.

During the past week the Owl's eyes have seen the tennis courts
being rolled and lined off. They needed repair badly after the rain
that washed most of the lines away.
We hope, now that the courts are in such a good condition, there will be an interest in tennis by the students,
both those who know how to play and those who wish to learn. It is excellent exercise, and we feel sure that many will play tennis during their Physical Ed. period.

HAS TEACHING JOB.

Miss Irene Barkuloo, a former honor student of Hondo High, is the new teacher at the Murphy school
this year. She took the place of Mrs.
J. E. Barden.

THE THINGS AHEAD.

From THE OWL.

Most of us worry about the outcome of things, whereas the outcome
usually takes care of itself. We should think about the things of the present with which we can do anything.

There are some who think that a college education fits them for life.
The world expects more from a college graduate than a high school graduate. His obligations and responsibilities to society are greater than those of a high school graduate.

The things ahead become the product, or the result, of things accomplished each day. The things tomorrow will be the result of things accomplished today. It is well with most of us that we do not know what the morrow will bring. Meeting today courageously makes the morrow
easier to face.

Have you ever fussed or whined
about the way something turned out?
I'm sure we all have at some time or other. I don't think I have ever known a person who got out of life
just what he wanted most, but we have all known people, who have taken things as they have come, without complaint, and thereby been happily
surprised at results that gave them
more than they expected, or even dreamed. It's the way of the world,
and we ought to become accustomed
to the fact.

Our inevitable destination should not make us anxious or worried. The fitting questions are: Where are we now? What is our task today? How far have we gone today?

It isn't a good plan to learn too
much out of season, for half may be forgotten when it becomes most needed.

The important thing is to be happy in what we do, even though we do
many things that we would rather not do. In the end everything useful is rewarded.

—Owlets—

YELL LEADERS ELECTED.

The high school students assembled
in the auditorium Wednesday morning to elect yell leaders. For head
yell leaders Sis Merritt, Lela Grace
Reily, Anthony Jungman, Merle
Stiegler, and John Mumme were nominated. Sis Merritt was elected.

For assistant leader Lela Grace
Reily, Anthony Jungman, Merle
Stiegler, Burleigh Smith, and Stanton
Chapman were nominated. Merle
Stiegler was elected.

The high school feels that two dependable and efficient leaders have been picked.

arms that held her. She pressed her flushed cheeks against the smooth

"How handsome!" she cried, her

"How handsome," she repeated,
"I adore a leather upholstered chair."

CASTROVILLE, TEXAS, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1935

In the election last Saturday the proposition to issue school bonds was defeated by a substantial majority. The Castroville Taxpayers League extends its sincerest appreciation to those who came to the poll to register an emphatic denial to such proposition.

Rev. J. Lenzen and J. G. FitzSimon were Hondo visitors Monday.

MANN-TSCHIRHART.

On Tuesday morning, September 17, 1935, at 8:30 o'clock, Oran Mann and Miss Corine Tschirhart were united in the holy bonds of wedlock at the St. Louis Catholic Church, Rev. Dean J. Lenzen officiating. The ceremony was performed during a Nuptial High Mass.

The attendants were Alvin Tschirhart and Miss Helen Tschirhart, Charles Suchs, Jr., and Miss Ruby Groff, Mervin Tschirhart and Miss Gertrude Tschirhart, and Lawrence Haby and Miss Ellis Mann.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride party and a large number of invited guests repaired to the home of the bride's parents where the happy event was celebrated by an all-day celebration. The bride was the recipient of many valuable presents.

Mr. Mann is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mann, and is a rising young business man, having been an employee of Tschirhart & Son Store, which position he fills admirably. The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tschirhart and numbers her friends by the score.

The young couple will be domiciled at the home of the groom's parents where they will be pleased to have their friends call on them.

We wish the young couple much joy, contentment and happiness in their journey together through life's pathway.

Water pouring over the spillway at the Medina Lake has caused the old Medina River to be on a rampage for a week with prospects that it will recede very slowly. A large volume of water is sweeping Gulfward.

After their return they will be at home in Hondo, where they will be pleased to have their friends call on them. The bride was the recipient of many valuable gifts.

Mr. Bendele is aesteemed young man from Hondo, while Mrs. Bendele is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burrell, and both have a host of friends who wish the couple much happiness and a long and happy married life in their journey through life.

Aggregate livestock shipments from Texas to Fort Worth and interstate points during May were sharply above those of the similar month last year, according to Dr. F. A. Suechel, assistant director and statistician of the Bureau of Business Research of The University of Texas. There was a substantial decline in forwardings of both hogs and sheep. Marketings of all classes of livestock combined totalled 7,298 cars against 5,292 cars during May last year, an increase of 38 per cent. Comparative figures for the four classes of livestock composing this total were: cattle, 5,699 vs. 3,482 cars, an increase of 63 per cent; calves, 610 vs. 190 cars, an increase of 25 per cent; hogs, 264 vs. 351 cars, a decrease of 25 per cent; and sheep, 734 vs. 959 cars, a decrease of 24 per cent. Shipments during the first five months of the year aggregated 24,874 against 24,073 cars during the corresponding period last year. When a comparison is made in shipments from the different sections of the State, marked contrasts from a year ago also are to be noted. For example, net shipments (excess of shipments over receipts) from the Coastal Plains district were 8,863 head this year against 1,862 a year ago; South Texas, 31,663 vs. 6,514; Trans Pecos, 11,905 vs. 7,077; Low Plains of Northwest Texas, 19,190 vs. 12,685; North Texas, 22,138 vs. 5,785. There was a decline in shipments from the Edwards Plateau from 9,177 to 6,499 head. Practically no change occurred in comparison with a year ago in the High Plains country of the Panhandle.

YEARS SAVED IN PRODUCING DISEASE-RESISTANT PLANTS.

To satisfy the urgent and often frantic demands of canners and seedsmen for vegetables resistant to disease—but of good quality—Federal plant breeders are developing new varieties in about one-third the usual time by growing several generations in 1 year. Wild-resistant peas and mosaic-tolerant beans are examples. In 1934 investigators in the United States Department of Agriculture were able to produce 4 generations of beans—3 in the greenhouse and 1 in the field, and 4 generations of peas—1 in the greenhouse and 3 in the field.

To develop pure strains of quality, it usually is necessary to cross with less desirable—but resistant—types, and then make repeated selections for 7 to 12 generations. Most of this can be done in the greenhouse until the production of seed in quantities begins.

Rapid increase of the seed outdoors may be done in a number of interesting ways. Growing seed crops south of the Equator during northern winters is theoretically the best, but high costs, long sea voyages, and local unfamiliarity with American varieties are drawbacks. American peas have been successfully grown in New Zealand, and growing off-season crops in Argentina or other southern countries has been investigated.

Three generations of peas can ever be grown in North America in one year, by harvesting in Mexico in March, in California in June and in Colorado in time for planting in Mexico in November.

The problem of growing and harvesting more than one generation of beans a year without greenhouse conditions, is more difficult, as they are sensitive to low temperatures. Some frost protection is provided in the extreme south, it is probable that beans could be harvested there in time for June or July planting in states to the north.

There was an average of four failures a week during June against six the previous month and three during June last year, according to a report of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Total liabilities of the bankrupt firms for the month were $250,000, an increase of 8 per cent over the previous month and 29 per cent above the similar month last year. Assets of the bankrupt firms totaled $133,000, an increase of 40 per cent over the month before and 129 per cent above June last year. Average liability per failure, $14,706, was 40 per cent above the previous month and 29 per cent greater than in the similar month last year.

By using barn yard fertilizer on their land, Charles Lee and John H. Trawick, San Saba county 4-H club boys, have both exceeded their fathers in the production of corn. Charles Lee planted his corn in three foot checks, manuring each hill. He will make seven or eight bushels more per acre than his father who planted his corn on unfertilized land. John H. Trawick planted 3-foot rows thick, which he thinned to a stand by cutting out the weaker stalks. He will average 10 bushels or more per acre in excess of the amount produced by his father. His father planted his corn on the same kind of land but planted less per acre to avoid thinning.

Tomato growers in the Volaw community in Hardin county realized more than $30,000 from the crop which amounted to 44 cars, forced to the late freeze, growers were forced to market this season in direct competition with the Valley and north Florida crops. The shipment this year was the largest number of cars ever shipped in one season. The next largest was the 1934 crop which amounted to 34 cars. Although only 10 more cars were shipped in 1935, the 1935 crop returned to the growers three times as much actual cash, Barrett said.

New passenger car registrations in fifteen representative Texas counties for the first five months of 1935 were well above those of the corresponding period a year ago, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Total sales during the month of May were 5,275 cars, a decline of 5 per cent from the previous month and 1.8 per cent from May, 1934. Aggregate sales for the first five months of the year were 27,654 cars, an increase of 32.8 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

METHODIST CHURCH.

Shan M. Hall, Pastor.

It hardly seems possible that we are so near the end of our second year at Hondo; nevertheless, it is true. Our fourth quarterly conference will be held Sunday evening, October 21st, which will be just two weeks from this coming Sunday, and then the Annual Conference will be just three and a half weeks following the quarterly conference. There remains much to be done between now and the meeting of the Annual Conference, which convenes in San Antonio on the 30th of October. We sincerely hope that the membership will "strive together with us in our prayers to God that God will help us in meeting our church obligations and responsibilities." Shall we not all make the closing out of our conference year a matter of earnest prayer? All of the church officers and officials will be elected at the Fourth quarterly conference to serve for the year following this year. We are anxious for written reports from all who are to report to the quarterly conference, and we are hoping for good financial reports.

The hour of meeting for our evening services has been changed from eight to seven-thirty o'clock; therefore, you will please be on hand for the evening preaching services at 7:30 o'clock.

The board of Christian Education is called to meet at the parsonage Friday evening of this week at 7:30 o'clock. All members of the board are urged to be present, as it will be an important meeting.

Two of the Sunday School classes will sell cakes this coming Saturday, the proceeds to be applied to our benevolences; your patronage will be appreciated.

We wish to remind the public in general of the Annual Church Dinner that will be served Wednesday, October 2nd; this will be a chicken dinner with all the trimmings. Get your appetites ready for a good dinner.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

HOLY COMMUNION

In 4 different books of the New Testament, including Paul's independent account of the Lord's Supper, we read that our Master gives the bread to His disciples and says: "Take, eat, this is my body." Again He takes the cup (filled with wine) and when He had given thanks He gave it to them saying: "Drink ye all of it; this cup is the New Testament in My Blood, which is shed for you and for many for the remission of sins." Both the bread and the wine were distributed to the disciples. We, therefore, give both the bread and the wine to the laity. For us Holy Communion is a Sacrament through which God extends His grace to us, the assurance of forgiveness in Christ, and strength to live a new life. He who does not feel the need of Holy Communion is in need of checking up on his spiritual life.

Holy Communion will be administered next Sunday morning in the German service which begins at 10 A. M. Sunday school and bible class begin at 9:00 A. M.

On Sunday, Sept. 29, the service and Sunday school begin at 9:00 A. M. Rev. W. C. Weeber will occupy the pulpit. Your pastor will take part in the Mission Festival held at Bartlett, Texas, on that Sunday.

The attention of members and friends is called to the fact that a collection of articles, preferably canned goods from home, is being gathered for the benefit of our Orphans and Old Folks Home in Round Rock, Texas. Your gift should be brought to the parsonage not later than noon on Saturday, Sept. 28, so that the pastor can deliver them on his way to Bartlett. Your willing cooperation is needed. You may leave your articles at the parsonage any time before the above time limit.

NEW FOUNTAIN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The New Fountain Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. Geo. Bohmfalk, Sr., on Wednesday, Sept. 18. There were fourteen members and three visitors present.

After the business session a program on "Releasing Captive Bodies" was rendered.

Very delicious refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served.

The Society is planning to have a program on the fifth Sunday night, Sept. 29, "The Magic Turn", an interesting play, will be presented by some of the members. There will also be many other interesting numbers. Your presence will be appreciated.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson R. Waite,
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

This is an old story, but true today as always.

The success of a city is measured by the prosperity of its citizens.

When the citizens work as one for better business to build the city, nothing can stop its progress.

When the merchants stop advertising, the citizens stop buying.

When people stop buying, the merchants stop selling.

When merchants stop buying, the manufacturer stops making.

When the manufacturer stops making, many people stop working.

When many people stop working, they stop earning—and when they stop earning, nearly all business stops.

Merchants should advertise and people should buy.

When they buy, the manufacturers can sell.

When the manufacturers can sell, many people can earn.

When people can earn, they will have money to spend.

LET'S HAVE BUSINESS AS USUAL!

HONDO BOYS MAKE GOOD AT SCHREINER.

Kerrville, Texas, Sept. 17.—Coach H. C. "Bully" Gilstrap, in preparation for his season opener with the Ninth Infantry from San Antonio here on September 27, rushed his Mountaineers into their second week of practice with workouts twice daily. Instruction in blocking features practice sessions as the Cadets point toward games with San Marcos, A & I, and St. Edward's on consecutive week-end starting October 4. The Schreiner men follow an open date on October 26 with successive tilts with Westmoorland, Texas University B team, and Lamar, ending their season on November 22.

Gilstrap put his men through their first scrimmage of the year Saturday afternoon and was pleased with their showing. Ted Dawson, 165-pound guard from Hondo, turned in a splendid performance in the trial test as did his fellow townmate, Carroll Jones, 165-pound halfback. Both Hondo boys look like first-string calibre.

UVALDE NEGRO IS KILLED BY HIT-RUN DRIVER.

Virgil Franklin, Uvalde negro, was killed early last Friday morning several miles east of Batesville on the Batesville-Pearall road, presumably by a hit-and-run driver.

Franklin, who was employed on the Will Allen ranch west of Uvalde, had been to Pearall with relatives and on the trip home the car's gasoline supply became exhausted. He walked several miles to a ranch house and obtained a supply of gasoline and it was while returning to the car that he was struck.

Passersby noticed the body lying at the side of the road. Franklin's head was badly crushed and one of his legs broken. He is thought to have been killed instantly.

The body was brought to Uvalde Friday afternoon for burial.—Uvalde Leader-News.

Deceased is said to be a son of Charlie Franklin, a well-to-do and respected colored man who formerly lived near Biry but moved some years ago to Uvalde.

W. M. S. HOLD MEETING.

The Woman's Missionary Society met in the home of Mrs. T. C. Barnes Tuesday afternoon, for their monthly program and social meeting.

Mrs. J. G. Newton, as leader, with Mesdames J. R. Chaney, K. J. Keny, O. A. Fly and Barnitz Karle assisting, gave a very interesting program on our Hospital work in Korea.

Mesdames O. A. Fly and Miss Willie Fly assisted Mrs. Barnes as hostess in serving delicious refreshments to twelve guests.

During the social hour plans were made for a dinner to be given on Wednesday the 2nd day of October. Further announcements to be made later.

CAR SHIPMENTS.

Last week's car-lot shipments from Hondo include 11 cars of corn, 3 cars of hegar, 2 cars of maize, one of broom corn and one of cattle.

The broomcorn went all the way to Philadelphia while the cattle were shipped to Houston. The car of cattle consisted of 20 fat steers that averaged nearly 1,300 pounds each.

Cotton shipments, by local freight, were 18 bales for the week. This raises the total shipment of cotton for the season to 40 bales.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to those who aided us in our sorrow and need at the death of our dear husband and father. We are especially grateful to his brother Masons. All comforting words spoken by our pastors and friends will always be remembered.

MRS. GEO. R. BOHMFALK,
AND CHILDREN.

QUIHI NOTES.

And he said, I will not destroy it for ten's sake. Gen. 18:32.

Thus ends the pleading battle between Abraham and God in behalf of the doomed cities; between "dust and ashes" and a rigorous Judge, between inexorable decrees and, if you wish, the impertinence of faith. Death is the wages of sin, and this fact is daily demonstrated, in mass destruction or in the passing away of individuals. None is a secret, how to escape the terrors of death. The Judge tempers His judgment with mercy, calling the wicked from the error of their ways. He has no pleasure in their death. And all have time to set their "house in order." But there is a time limit. So it was with those cities. They were conscious of the end of all things. They were warned by their very conscience—not one of the wicked is happy and at peace at his sinful trade. They were warned by the contrast in living of those few righteous in their midst; by the model of Abraham; by the tradition of their history of Noah, their tribal father, and the terrible catastrophe of his time, etc. Yet, in compliance with Abraham's request, for the sake of ten righteous, God is willing to suspend action. Is He temporizing, vacillating, compromising? Not at all. Where there is a good showing of corn, despite the multitude of weeds, there is still a chance for a crop, and the field is not plowed under. With a good stock of god-fearing men, there is still hope for the others. These, even today, serve as a lightning conductor for the fiery bolts of God's wrath upon sin. These, perhaps unknown and despised, determine the respite for many a wicked realm; these delay the world-wide doom.

The following children were confirmed last Sunday: Lucille Boehle, Viola Boehle, Robt. B. Breiten, Aileen Grell, Edna Loessberg, Corine Nietenhoefer, Lucille Nietenhoefer, Irene Nietenhoefer, Hilda Poehler, Ben Hy. Wiemers. The examination fairly proved that the labor of instruction had not been in vain. They made a good confession. May the Lord help them to be faithful and apply their convictions in daily life, their main test. Thanks to the efforts of their mothers, the place was richly decorated. As so often, the little building was much too small to house the worshippers who had come from near and far to witness the proceedings. The choir contributed several of its choice selections for the day. A richly decorated hanging book-mark, the donation of the confirmations, remains as a silent visible reminder of the happy day and its lasting importance. Another well-attended service was had in the evening in connection with their first communion. And now a hearty god-speed to them all.

Where no wood is, the fire goeth out (Prov. 26:20), and where the fire goeth out in spite of plenty of inflammable material all around, we must see the protecting hand of God in a remarkable way. Mr. Geo. Balzen and family had this novel experience. Coming home from church last Sunday, they found that fire had raged in several rooms, burning down wall paper, curtains, shades, linen covers, scorching furniture, breaking window panes and eating through wooden walls, and not a soul at home. It was all over upon their return. The house stands intact. The damage is comparatively small. Who had stopped those flames? Bless the Lord, O my soul!

Announcements for September the 22nd: German service at New Fountain at 10 A. M. Sunday school and Junior Bible class at 9; Luther League program at 7:45 P. M. Again you are cordially invited.

OLDEST CERTIFICATE TO TEACH IN TEXAS OWNED BY ITALY MAN.

The original of what is said to be the oldest extant certificate to teach school in Texas is owned by P. P. Brewster of Italy, Ellis County, who exhibited the document in Dallas Tuesday. It probably will be made available for display at the historical exhibit of the Texas Centennial at Dallas.

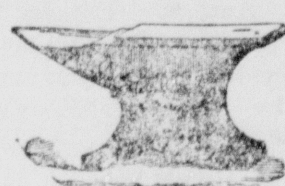

The certificate is dated Castroville, Medina County, on August 30, 1853, and is signed by A. H. Noonan for the local Board of Education. It certifies that Joseph Kempf "is qualified to teach, in the English language the subjects of spelling, reading, writing, arithmetic, geography and grammar." Mr. Brewster quoted Dr. Frederick Eby of the education faculty of the University of Texas as saying that this is the earliest Texas teacher's license he has ever seen.

Mr. Brewster, formerly superintendent of schools at Hondo, near the old city of Castroville, acquired the document several years ago.—Pearall Leader.

A THOUGHT.

Sometimes it is more becoming to play second fiddle than first violin.—Gloria Young.

WHAT ABOUT "SEED" FOR THE FUTURE.

A perusal of important provisions of the Revenue Act of 1935 (the "soak-the-rich" tax bill) should satisfy the most ardent "share-the-wealth" advocate.

For the past several years, leading tax boosters in Congress have pointed out that this country could stand still higher taxes because our levies on business and income had not yet reached the figures in leading European countries.

Just why we should try to break the European record of debt-ridden and bankrupt nations, has never been explained. But our congressional tax boosters have apparently won their goal. Along with breaking many other world's records, we will apparently soon claim the high tax record—if we have not already secured that unenviable distinction.

When one reads over the percentage of earnings taken by the various income taxes sur-taxes, corporation taxes, excess profits taxes, capital stock taxes and estate taxes, etc., one begins to wonder what the future of American earnings and savings will be.

Take the surtaxes alone: They start at 31 per cent on $50,000; then 51 per cent on $80,000, 73 per cent on $100,000 and 75 per cent on over $500,000.

If a man leaves an estate, the tax ranges from 2 per cent on net estates up to $10,000, to 70 per cent on estates over $50,000,000, with a $40,000 exemption.

What inducement is there for an individual who has worked and saved money, to invest it in an undertaking that would employ labor? Why run the risk?

The American people are hardy. They are pioneers. They are energetic. They want to do things. But the mounting trend in taxation and the confiscatory inheritance taxes which destroy life-time savings, may break the heart of private initiative and enterprise.

It will be a grim crop the tax gatherer reaps as he starts harvesting the estate taxes of America. He may gather one good crop from each family but in his greed, it looks as if he would fail to leave enough seed to provide "profitable" income or inheritance taxes in the future.—Industrial News Review.

FASHIONS IN FREEDOM.

"Al" Smith, one of the nation's leading citizens, former governor of New York and Democratic candidate for president, is respected by all for his integrity, his sincerity and his shrewdness in analyzing public questions. As the principal speaker at a recent dinner in New York, he said to his hearers: "Keep your eye on the Constitution."

About the same time the German State Secretary in the Reich Ministry of Justice was informing a public gathering that the will of Hitler is the supreme law of the land.

In the United States the Constitution is the supreme law of the land and the lives, liberties and fortunes of our people are not subject to the will of dictators.

But "Al" Smith knows, as do other statesmen, that there are definite designs in our own United States to revise the Constitution as a document outworn—as though there were fashions in freedom. This design has shown itself in suggestions to deprive the highest judicial branch of government, the United States Supreme Court, of the power to effectively uphold what is left of the Constitution.

If any think this is not a step in the direction of intolerant dictatorship as we witness it in the rest of the world, let them think again!

The legislative attempts of the past several years to circumvent the Constitution, have been plain and only the power of the United States Supreme Court to pass on such acts, has saved the American citizen his personal liberties and his property rights, and prevented him from having the chains of dictatorship forged upon him.

Take heed of the advice of men who today put country above party and stand for the perpetuation of unadulterated Americanism fostered and encouraged by Constitutional government unchanged in principle from its original design.—Industrial News Review.

Beauty Hints

GRAFT a pair of tweezers on a dainty pair of manicure scissors, and what have you? Twis-sors, of course. They're the latest
type of eyebrow tweezers and are warranted to do a clean and accurate job of grooming because they
are so easy to handle and grip so firmly. In addition they allow the user an unobstructed view not possible with ordinary tweezers. A
feminine touch is added to the
handles, which are tinted in a
choice of six boudoir colors.

It is no longer considered smart
to pluck the eyebrows into pencil-
thin lines which destroy the whole
character of the face.

Today's aim is to retain individuality in eye make-up, which means
following the natural curve of the brows when shaping them. Use
tweezers daily to remove straggly
hairs below the arch and across
the bridge of the nose. This will produce that well-groomed appearance so desired by the fastidious
woman.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Rogers are
in receipt of a letter from their son,

vice at the entrance of this country
into the World War in 1917. He came out of the war a Lieutenant,
took up the regular army as a pro-

From a press dispatch to the Dallas News of September 18th, we learn
that among 280 promotions in the foreign service, recently made by the State Department, six are Texans.
Among the six is William P. Blocker,
Hondo, Medina County, Texas, until
recently Consul at Ciudad Juarez,
Chihuahua, Mexico. Blocker was promoted from Class 5 to Class 4, the
latter class paying from $6,000 to $6,900. He has seen long consular service in Mexico. Before his late station as Consul at Ciudad Juarez, Chihuahua, he was at Mazatlan, Guay-
mas and Piedras Negras. He was assigned to the latter city as Vice-Consul in 1915. He has only recently been transferred to an important
post in Cuba.

We were pleased to greet our
long-time friend, George Heyen, on
the streets of Hondo Tuesday. Mr.
Heyen is now 82 years old and his sight is so impaired as to render his getting about somewhat hazardous.
He still maintains a cheerful outlook
on life, however. Says he has lived
long, seen much and knows from experience that a friend in need is a friend indeed. During his long life
he has always had his daily bread and
been able to pay his debts and so
today he owes no man anything
save his good will. What a whole-
some philosophy of life is this—to
earn ones daily bread in honest toil,
to pay ones just debts to his fellow
man and be a friend to all! What
more could a man do?

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Brucks left last

place at the home of Mr. Owens' sister, at 8 o'clock P. M., in the presence of some intimate friends

a most enjoyable visit and a pleasant trip, Mr. and Mrs. Brucks returned home Monday of this week.

Feeding Civilians Instead of Armies

More Profitable Than Waging War

WHEN you have read "The Glory of War," probably the most talked-of book on the Great War since "All Quiet on the Western Front," it seems rather incongruous to discuss foods that armies fit. You find yourself asking—fit for what?

It is well, however, to consider
the use of some of these foods
which military authorities have
found sustaining for soldiers
make for a race of better citizens.

Foremost, among army rations probably, is canned meat. "The Beef" has gone down in war as stories and as many verses as as there are verses to "Mademoiselle from Armentieres." And
the housewife, who is keeping her
family fit and with sufficient
energy for "the last long mile"
canned meat has a distinct use.

To Keep Them Fit

Suppose, for example, there are lunches to be prepared
—lunches for hikers, lunches for swimmers, after tennis, or some heavy exertion. The steak in the refrigerator is reserved for dinner, yet a vegetable luncheon is
not sustaining enough. It is impossible to go to the pantry, as choose at will between canned corned beef, veal loaf, ham loaf tongue or any of the many canned meats.

It is important to know delicious ways to prepare these meats to vary them. Ham loaf,
particularly good with pineapple,
veal loaf sautéed and served with
fresh asparagus is temptingly
canned sliced tongue with ma-
roni and cheese is a very sustaining meal; and canned steak and onions can be made into a sandwich served on toasted rolls and garnished with sliced mus-
rooms if you like.

Farms and ranches alongside
Texas highways will keynote Centennial visitors' impressions of the State. The Centennial Farm and Home Demonstration Contest announced by the Extension Service is an effort to enroll every family living on Texas highway in one great big reception committee to create a "smiling countryside" welcoming visitors
to the birthday party. Response to the announcement of the contest has
been inspiring. Dallas News representatives met it when they went off
to raise $2500 for prize money for
the contest. Commercial firms generously to stimulate enrollment
in the state-wide movement to improve the homes and farms and ranches by which the State will be judged in 1936. Newspapers all over the state have joined hands in cooperation with the News as representing the city where the principal Centennial event will be celebrated. Good editorials and generous inches of
space are being given to promote the
movement. Radio announcers on commercial programs are telling about
it. The Sister State of Oklahoma plans
to "pretty up" the highways leading
into Texas. Extension Service agents
aided by the men and women and
boys and girls who have worked with
them heretofore are helping Texans
on the highways to make plans for improvements based on Extension Service standards for country homes

GREATEST CIRCUS COMING THIS WAY.

Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined, Presenting Hundreds of New Foreign Features, in Seven-Ring and Stage Program Declared to Be Finest in History.

Offering its millions of patrons the largest and best program in its brilliant annals, the mighty Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus, is scheduled to exhibit in San Antonio, Saturday, Sept. 28, and on that date the world's largest big top will be filled with sensational new features from all over the globe, including the top-most arena acts of every European nation, except Denmark.

The Greatest Show on Earth will arrive on four long railroad trains of double-length steel cars, carrying 1600 people, seven herds of elephants, 1009 menagerie animals and 700 horses, to say nothing of 31 great tents and countless tons of rigging, grandstands, properties and paraphernalia.

New European troupes are the Walkmirs, Antaleks, Romeos, Maschinos, Polis, Buemrangs, Demenatis, Willos, Lauries and Torrence-Dolores—sensational aerial and acrobatic novelty offerings. The largest aerial ballet ever produced, led by the Lydia, the Rooney, the Annetta and Nellyta troupes, and the largest liberty horse act ever seen are new thrills from abroad.

Mlle. Gillette, who leaps from the dome of the big top; the Otaris, who fly in masses from an aerial cross; the two Wallenda troupes in new hair-raising high wire feats; Dorothy Herbert, riding reinless hurdling horses over fire jumps; the great Con Colleano, forward somersaulting star of the tight wire; the largest acrobatic display ever seen, with the Yacopis, the Danwills, the Uyenos, the Yom Kams, the Demenatis, the Hadjis and Hassans; the celebrated Loyal-Repenkis, the famed Rieffenachs and the great Walters, bareback riding stars; the two Guice Troupes of comedy aerial flyers on the lofty bars; the Flying Concellos, with Antoinette, only girl ever to accomplish a two-and-a-half somersault to hand-to-hand catch; the famed Flying Comets; Hugo and Mario, who are fired in a split second from the mouth of a giant cannon across the upper reaches of the big top—these are but a few of the preeminent artists among the 800 performers with The Greatest Show on Earth—Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey.

Still another feature is Col. Tim McCoy, the screen's most outstanding western star, at the head of his congress of rough riders of the world—cowboys, cowgirls, Cossacks, Mexican vaqueros, Australian bushrangers and Plains Indians. Col. McCoy, scout, soldier and friend of the Indian, idol of American youth, will also present his Indian Village in the center of the vast menagerie oval.

Queer things sometimes get into print because human beings all make mistakes. Now and then a newspaper reporter writes copy carelessly, etc. Here are a few of the "best bets" in such errors:

"Touches live wife, man hurled 35 feet."

"Wanted—Saleslady. Must be respectable until after Xmas."

"For Rent—Lovely furnished room in private family with bath on car line."

"Experienced salespeople wanted. Male or female. No others need apply."

"For sale—A folding bed by a lady that shuts up and looks like a piano."

Euripides had just passed the examination at the army recruiting station. He said to the examiner:

"Boss, ah'd like to ask one favor now that youse goin' to put me in the army."

"And what is that," patiently asked the examiner.

"Don't put me in the calvary, 'cause when Ah's told to retreat Ah don't want to be bothered with no hoss."

It is called Alka-Seltzer because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink, and as it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid.

After trying many brands of medicines—so-called relief for gas, and all of them a failure, I gave up hopes. By chance I tried Alka-Seltzer—I am more than satisfied. Geo. Bennett, New York, N. Y.

If you approve of FARMING'S fight for a free and prosperous agriculture support it with your subscription.

One of agriculture's serious handicaps is the lack of storage facilities on the farm for caring for and protecting the products of the farm. Knowing this and knowing that the farmer knows he must rush much of his produce to market as rapidly as possible after the harvest, the speculative world takes advantage of his unpreparedness to beat down his price. The farmer's best defense against this, as well as assurance against his own need later on, is to store and keep all he has the means for holding.

oOo

With few exceptions the chief if not the only dependence of the country town for its maintenance is the farms that surround them. The products of the fields, the pastures, the orchards and the gardens is the only wealth created whereby the business of such town can be built and maintained. Since, therefore, the town owes its very existence to the farm, it behooves those interested in the welfare of the town to concern themselves in the welfare of the farmers. The best way for the town to promote the welfare of the farm is to provide the farmer with the widest and most profitable market possible for his produce. A good market for his produce secures the farmer's good will for the town; such good will is the town's most valuable business asset. Once lost it is hard to regain.

oOo

If resentment on the part of the temporary beneficiaries of the processing tax at those who resent having to pay it leads to a court test of the levying of a "protective" instead of a "revenue" tariff tax the deplorable mess of the AAA will not be without its compensation—like the Indian's application of fire to a sore, the heroic treatment may cure. Regardless of what may be the "Supreme Court's last guess is the law in the case", the fact will remain that no government has a moral right to levy a tax for any other purpose than to maintain the government economically administered. Any tax that takes money without fair recompense out of the pocket of one and gives it to another works an injustice to the one taxed—impoverishes the one to enrich the other—and both the protective tariff and the processing tax do just that unholy thing. The protective tariff tax has contributed largely to the impoverishment of the farmer; his relief should come through abolishment of the tariff, not through finding a victim to impoverish through processing taxes.

oOo

From the Whitehouse down to the humblest trough-feeder in the government service much hullabaloo is being made with the claim, to use the President's own words, "that cotton has gone up from 4 1-2 to 12 1-2 cents" as a result of the AAA program. Is it altogether fair or in accordance with facts to make such a claim? Last year's cotton crop was a little over nine million bales, the carry over from last year is nearly nine million bales, and of this nine million some six million are still held by the government as security for a 12c loan. In the meantime, foreign exports of cotton declined from almost eight million bales for the year ending July 1934 to 4,826,000 bales for the year ending July 1935. Would it not be more in accordance with a Square Deal to wait until the cotton now held under a mortgage at a figure above the world price is finally sold and ceases to be a menace to future prices before boasting of the high selling price? Until cotton has moved into the spinners' hands it cannot be said to be really sold and may boomerang on the farmer to his loss of profitable markets for his new crop.

THE EDITOR'S TURN-ROW

IN THE BALANCE.

"Ask any business man, investor, property owner or thinking worker what is most needed to give the nation the confidence, the spirit and the optimism that will break depression."

"You might get the same answer from each: 'Tax reduction, plus a determined policy that will balance the budget as soon as possible, and gradually reduce and eventually eliminate the vast national debt.'"

"Real, permanent and sound recovery cannot arrive so long as industry faces the prospect of confiscatory taxes that will seize whatever profits it is able to make. We cannot have a wave of home-building so long as our citizens realize that increasing taxes may soon make it impossible for them to keep their property. We cannot have re-employment of the jobless so long as investors are afraid to put their money into productive enterprises—because rising taxes imperil both principal and income."

"The national debt is approaching the $35,000,000 mark. Hundreds of millions of dollars a year are required to meet the interest. More hundreds of millions are required for sinking funds with which to pay off the bonds when they fall due. Long after the money has been spent, and the things it bought have disappeared, we and our children will be paying the bill."

"The Federal government has attempted to 'spend us back to prosperity'. In the view of many unbiased commentators we would have gone a long way farther toward recovery had spending been held down—in other words, the government's policy, in their belief, has hindered and not helped the nation. Yet more spending is in prospect—and more taxes."

"The people want tax reduction. Business wants tax reduction. Investors and workers want tax reduction. Unless it is achieved, the nation's economic future is in the balance."

All of the which, taken bodily from the Industrial News Review press sheet, is as true as gospel.

But like too many writers of the present time, Mr. Hofer stops too soon; stops with a prescription for some of the complications and symptoms without diagnosing the disease that afflicts us or prescribing a cure for it.

Our ills were superinduced first of all by high finance, working through the agency of the Federal Reserve Banking System, cornering the supply of cash.

In order to effectuate the "corner" they withdrew loans, refused extensions and ceased making new loans.

Ready money poured into the coffers of the manipulators to be invested over and over again in tax exempt government bonds and our bonded debt mounted to incomprehensible figures with its inevitable attendant increase in taxation.

In the meantime, business languished for lack of circulating medium, confidence was destroyed, unemployment stalked the walks of industry and the miseries we denominate "the depression" descended, like a curse, upon the land.

Lack of credit facilities (which means ability to secure adequate cash) being the cause of our ailment, a restoration of liquid financial resources is the remedy; the first requisite for the restoration of "the confidence, the spirit and the optimism that will break depression."

It cannot be secured by plunging the country further and further into bonded debt to hand out miserable doles, pay rental on idle acres or buy unborn pigs to murder.

It must come by breaking the corner on cash.

That must be done by taking from special privilege the power to control the issuance of credit currency, restoring that power to the government and using it for the good of the whole people.

Until this is done, until men like Mr. Hofer see the light and lead the way to it, the masses must remain in industrial darkness and in chains.

When will our leaders in thought and action see the way, make straight

the ways that are crooked, lead the blind, befuddled masses by ways they know not and not forsake them?

JUST TOO BAD.

Fletcher's Farming,
Hondo, Texas.

Gentlemen:

You will please discontinue sending your publication to me. I am thoroughly disgusted with such ideas as you advocate AGAINST OUR GOVERNMENT and do not care to longer receive your publication.

When I gave my subscription, I thought I was receiving a farm journal in the interest of the agricultural interest of this state, and especially the growing of pecans, but I am disappointed in the same and therefore do not care to receive the same any longer, although my year's subscription which I paid in advance has not yet expired.

Yours very truly

Now isn't that just too bad!

Of course we shall accommodate the gentleman.

And we would let it go at that if it were not for two very common errors into which the gentleman falls.

No man has a profounder respect or deeper love for "OUR GOVERNMENT"—a representative democracy—than has the editor of this paper.

But we have an abiding contempt for the way it is being ADMINISTERED for the most part right now.

A man big enough to hold a servant's position under the government, as does the writer of the above, should at least be wise enough to know the difference between the GOVERNMENT and the ADMINISTRATION—the one a heritage from our liberty-loving forefathers; the other the accident of a muddled politics.

It is the weakness of small minds when they become the beneficiaries of political accidents to imagine they and their bunch are THE GOVERNMENT.

The gentleman's idea of what constitutes the "interest of the agricultural interest" is equally at fault.

He labors in vain for the interests of agriculture who labors at all without laboring first of all for a political policy that seeks "equal rights to all without special favors to any" and an economic system that protects every man in his "right to the pursuit of happiness" in his own way and the full enjoyment of the fruits of that pursuit.

Hence FARMING has no apology to make for covering a broader field than that to which the gentleman would confine us, even though that broader sphere sometimes leads to the less agreeable task of forking politics instead of compost.

oOo

When President Roosevelt was asking for advice—and either refused to heed it or did not get it—the leaders of the party who should have been his counselors saw him cut loose from the time-honored moorings of Democratic principles, load the ship of state with a super-cargo of ill-advised experiments and plunge out on an untried sea of paternalism and socialism. Now that it is too late to turn back from his ruinous course and make safe anchorage in the haven of Democracy, criticism is plentiful and to spare; but it is coming, not in the form of the long and sadly needed counsel but in a storm of partizan rancor that would profit out of the mischief that has been done and add still further to his discomfiture. The man who says "yes" to you when you are in error does you the worst dis-service.

If FARMING pleases you it will please your neighbor.

FARMING MUST GO ON.

The last issue of Fletcher's Farming, published at Hondo, has the following:

With this issue of FARMING the paper enters its XIV volume. There has been a terrible mortality among farm papers during the past five years, but, thanks to its friends, FARMING still goes on. Won't you be of that number who are helping us carry on?

Fletcher's Farming is a fine farm paper, devoted to the best interests of farming. Hence it is only natural FARMING should go on, despite the fall of other farm papers!—FRED B. ROBINSON in Waco Sunday Tribune-Herald.

GROVE MEETING MEMORIES.

When we went to Grove Meeting
On dear old Liberty Hill,
Camp Meeting was in progress
And the summer air was still.

How well I remember the hill-side
Where it was hard to walk,
The ground was covered with gravel
Almost as white as chalk.

The hill was clothed with cedars
Open spaces were here and there,
At one of these we gathered
And worshipped and knelt in prayer.

We met in the late afternoons
When the sun hung low in the West,
And a peaceful atmosphere
Had wrapped the valley in rest.

Experiences, songs, and prayers
Were wafted upon high
By love and deepest gratitude
And we felt God's presence nigh.

Our hearts were full of happiness
Yes, peace was everywhere
When we went to Grove Meeting
And the women led in prayer.

—IRENE DENMAN KISER.

OKLAHOMA DUST STORM.

Out of the mouth of Hades, shot
A writhing spume of dust
Upon the farming lands, destroying
Like a scourge of rust.

Through every window, down the flues
Under each tight door sill
This seething, smothering, crushing mass
Of Vengeance, wreaked its will.

The frightened rabbits sought escape,
They hid from this new wrath:
But they were buried secretly
Beneath a dust-strewn path.

No road led out, nor refuge came
For man or beast of prey—
The hours grew into days of woe
Before it went its way.

—TUMBLEWEED.

ONE MORE SONG TO SING.

Now Summer goes
With slow, reluctant feet
Down the highroad of the Seasons—
I would stay her flight
With song for bribe,
Song, light as silver spray—
Stay, Summer, stay, I plead
Only one more song to sing!

She says no word,
She sings no song,
Only on my outstretched palms
There lies a sheaf
Of golden leaves—
And Summer is gone!

—MARY OCTAVIA DAVIS.

TO MY DEPARTED.

When the day is nearly spent
I grow even more content;
In the twilight when you greet me,
In the evening when you meet me,
When the work of day is done
And my soul and yours are one.

Each tomorrow, without measure,
Holds for me the greatest pleasure;
Thoughts of you whom I have kissed,
Thoughts of you whom I have missed,
And we shall keep our rendezvous,
You with me, Dear, I with you.

SAFE LANDING.

Above Alaska's tundra, into the murky sky,
A scarlet plane soared northward,
"Just somewhere" there to fly.
Within this ship sat Rogers, with Wiley at the helm,
No likelier pair of aces were known in all the realm.
Courageous sons and noble, both loveable to folks
The whole world claimed their Wiley's stunts and Will's familiar jokes.

But from the home eternal, the Giant Spirit spoke.
Will heard his fathers calling—and Wiley's mind awoke
To feel the earth receding and Heaven looming near—
How sweet to be together and have no thought of fear.
We of the earth will sorrow and long to touch their hand
But He who "guides the sparrow" will help them safely land.

LITTLE WALKS IN THE GARDEN.

FARMING'S modest efforts to encourage an appreciation of the poetry of farm life attracted the attention of Emory E. Hayes in the Greenwich Village edition of his Poetry and Art Reporter. Besides a gracious compliment to FARMING'S efforts, he pays a deserved compliment to one of our frequent contributors, Mrs. Elizabeth Giles Winn, "The Poetess of the Sunny Southwest".

We are indebted to our poet friend, Flozari Rockwood, for a copy each of The Modern Bards, an anthology of modern bards, and Moods of Earth by Margaret Elizabeth

Holmes, two brochures of poetry. As well as being selections of lovely verse, they are typographic gems, the work of The Pegasus Press, 1309 Payne Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

LITTLE PIONEER.

The meadow lark sings to the rising sun,
A new day's plowing is fresh begun;
The hired man shouts, the big iron grays
Tighten the tugs and the sod-plow sways,
Steadies again as the share bites deep
Breaking the daisies' nodding sleep;
While spiderwort, mallow and feverfew,
And prairie grasses drenched with dew,
Tremble and fall from the sod-bright share;
The little boy follows, his brown feet bare,
In the cool, moist path of the plow.

Helping his father putting up fence;
New posts sunk through grass roots dense;
Stretchers come taut; the new wires sing
Down a shining half-mile, and bright barbs sting,
Pungent and sweet in his freckled nose
Is the trampled-out scent of a crushed wild rose;
Mussel shells, white, in a dry creek bed;
Sharp-eyed hawk in the sky overhead;
A ground squirrel runs, a cotton tail hides,

In a world all sky and plain.

Velvet soft the swift night falls;
A cricket sings, a hoot owl calls;
On the purpling dark the fireflies blink;

A coyote barks, the plains wind sighs,
From the new-built fence a bull bat cries;

EVENING SKY.

The sunset ever holds a glory new—
A bright effulgence spreading overhead;
A delicate pastel in filmy web
Of overlay atop an ashen hue.
Perhaps some glorious display is due
To after-glow of burnished copper-red;
Or maybe only paling blue is spread
In cooling, peaceful loveliness of view.

Whatever splendor on the evening sky
Presents the special treat when day is done,
I always shall recall with ecstasy

For silver thread of new-born crescent spun,
With one star of surpassing brilliancy.

While I in dreams re-live a sun-filled day?
I left the glorious mountains of the West;
'Tis true the flowers bloom upon my window sill,
But nothing ever takes the place of you;

Where roses climbed a garden wall
And golden sunbeams filtered thru,
Where purple lilac shadows fall,
A doorstep where a cricket sang,
An old road leading far away

And so—I followed it—one day,
But how I miss that evening chorus
The cricket song, the Whip-poor-will.
Oh time! turn back your pages to

And Its Present-Day Significance

There was an old Roman law relating to bank deposits to the effect that a depositor who left his money only for safety ranked before a depositor who received interest for his money.

Today, in America, each of those depositors is protected against loss in insured banks. Whether or not their funds earn interest makes no difference. All depositors of an insured bank, share in the benefits of Deposit Insurance.

We have a football game next Friday (Sept. 20) with Pearsall, on Barry Field. Let's all be there to yell for the Owls and show them
that we are backing them. Let's keep up the "ole Hondo High spirit" and
be that twelfth man.

The freshmen seem to be "catch-
ing on" quicker this year than usual.
I wonder what's the matter?

If you want to learn "What NOT

Jr. Fly. He told us all about it in English class.

Have you noticed the H. E. girls'
smocks? They are quite attractive.
(Both the smocks and the girls!)

If anyone has any original work,
poetry, wisecracks, or otherwise,
please see the editor of this paper at once. If you don't see us, we'll see
you, because we know who you are!

Out of the group of boys and girls
who started to the Hondo School in 1925 there are nine who have come to the last year of their High School
career together. They are Wilma
Barkuloo, Evelyn Barnes, Henry
Bendele, Oreneth Fly, Hugh Meyer,
Jean McCall, Gracie Reily, Fern Ul-
brich, and Anna Laura Welhausen.
We wonder what has happened to all
the others who started. Let's all
join together in wishing these nine
seniors much luck and many more
years of association.

THE SENIORS.

The Seniors held a class meeting
at 12:30 Thursday noon. We concluded the election of our class officers. (At a meeting last Monday the president, Gracie Reily, and vice president, Hugo Schweers, were elected.) The president took charge
of the meeting, and the following remaining officers were elected: Hugh Meyer, secretary; Florence Zuber-
bueler, treasurer; and Ethelyn Ney,
reporter. We hope they will all try
to do their best, and we are sure they will. The Seniors, you know, always try to be first in everything. We did succeed in electing our officers first.

—Owlets—
THE OWLS OF '35.

The younger boys of Hondo High
seem to have a great interest in football this year. Most of those who are out for football are young and inexperienced, but in them, Hondo High sees the football team of future years. There are, however,
several lettermen back this year, including our new captain, Benny Oefinger.

Both the old and new players are trying very hard to be in shape for
the first game of the season, Friday,
Sept. 20. Our opponent will be Pearsall, but the Owls have the advantage of playing on their own field.

—Owlets—
YELL PRACTICE.

All the students of Hondo High,
with the exception of the football
team, met in the auditorium Monday morning for yell practice. Sis Merritt, last year's yell leader, was in charge. The students were told to be thinking about yell leaders for
this year.

During this practice the football team met in the history room for
"skull" practice.
Come on, Owls! We'll be yelling
for YOU!

—Owlets—
TENNIS.

During the past week the Owl's
eyes have seen the tennis courts
being rolled and lined off. They needed repair badly after the rain
that washed most of the lines away.
We hope, now that the courts are in
such a good condition, there will be
an interest in tennis by the students,
both those who know how to play and
those who wish to learn. It is excellent exercise, and we feel sure that many will play tennis during their Physical Ed. period.

HAS TEACHING JOB.

Miss Irene Barkuloo, a former honorary student of Hondo High, is the new teacher at the Murphy school
this year. She took the place of Mrs.
J. E. Barden.

THE THINGS AHEAD.

From THE OWL.

Most of us worry about the outcome of things, whereas the outcome
usually takes care of itself. We should think about the things of the present with which we can do anything.

There are some who think that a
college education fits them for life.
The world expects more from a college graduate than a high school
graduate. His obligations and responsibilities to society are greater than
those of a high school graduate.

The things ahead become the product, or the result, of things accomplished each day. The things tomorrow will be the result of things accomplished today. It is well with most of us that we do not know what the morrow will bring. Meeting today courageously makes the morrow
easier to face.

Have you ever fussed or whined
about the way something turned out?
I'm sure we all have at some time or other. I don't think I have ever known a person who got out of life
just what he wanted most, but we have all known people, who have taken things as they have come, without complaint, and thereby been happily
surprised at results that gave them
more than they expected, or even
dreamed. It's the way of the world,
and we ought to become accustomed
to the fact.

Our inevitable destination should
not make us anxious or worried. The fitting questions are: Where are we now? What is our task today? How far have we gone today?

It isn't a good plan to learn too
much out of season, for half may be forgotten when it becomes most needed.

The important thing is to be happy in what we do, even though we do
many things that we would rather
not do. In the end everything useful is rewarded.

—Owlets—
YELL LEADERS ELECTED.

The high school students assembled
in the auditorium Wednesday morn-
yell leaders Sis Merritt, Lela Grace
Reily, Anthony Jungman, Merle
Stiegler, and John Mumme were nominated. Sis Merritt was elected.

For assistant leader Lela Grace
Reily, Anthony Jungman, Merle
Stiegler, Burleigh Smith, and Stanton
Chapman were nominated. Merle
Stiegler was elected.

The high school feels that two dependable and efficient leaders have
been picked.

Research. A total of 103 cars were shipped to out-of-state points against 160 cars a year ago, a decline of 36 per cent. There were 60 cars of poultry and 43 of eggs in May this year compared with 87 cars of poultry and 73 of eggs during the similar month last year. Receipts of eggs from out-of-state points totalled 41

CASTROVILLE, TEXAS, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1935

In the election last Saturday the proposition to issue school bonds was defeated by a substantial majority. The Castroville Taxpayers League extends its sincerest appreciation to those who came to the poll to register an emphatic denial to such proposition.

Rev. J. Lenzen and J. G. FitzSimon were Hondo visitors Monday.

MANN-TSCHIRHART.

On Tuesday morning, September 17, 1935, at 8:30 o'clock, Oran Mann and Miss Corine Tschirhart were united in the holy bonds of wedlock at the St. Louis Catholic Church, Rev. Dean J. Lenzen officiating. The ceremony was performed during a Nuptial High Mass.

The young couple will be domiciled at the home of the groom's parents where they will be pleased to have their friends call on them.

We wish the young couple much joy, contentment and happiness in their journey together through life's pathway.

Water pouring over the spillway at the Medina Lake has caused the old Medina River to be on a rampage for a week with prospects that it will recede very slowly. A large volume of water is sweeping Gulfward.

Aggregate livestock shipments from Texas to Fort Worth and interstate points during May were sharply above those of the similar month last year, according to Dr. F. A. Juechel, assistant director and statistician of the Bureau of Business Research of The University of Texas.

There was a substantial decline in forwardings of both hogs and sheep. Marketings of all classes of livestock combined totalled 7,298 cars against 5,292 cars during May last year, an increase of 38 per cent. Comparative figures for the four classes of livestock composing this total were: cattle, 5,690 vs. 3,482 cars, an increase of 63 per cent; calves, 610 vs. 490 cars, an increase of 25 per cent; hogs, 264 vs. 351 cars, a decrease of 25 per cent; and sheep, 734 vs. 959 cars, a decrease of 24 per cent. Shipments during the first five months of the year aggregated 24,874 against 24,073 cars during the corresponding period last year. When a comparison is made in shipments from the different sections of the State, marked contrasts from a year ago also are to be noted. For example, net shipments (excess of shipments over receipts) from the Coastal Plains district were 8,863 head this year against 1,862 a year ago; South Texas, 31,663 vs. 6,514; Trans Pecos, 11,905 vs. 7,077; Low Plains of Northwest Texas, 19,190 vs. 12,685; North Texas, 22,138 vs. 5,785. There was a decline in shipments from the Edwards Plateau from 9,177 to 6,499 head. Practically no change occurred in comparison with a year ago in the High Plains country of the Panhandle.

Thirty-one hides have been tanned into leather during the past year by Heinz Ulrich of Blanco county, according to C. E. Tisdale, county agricultural agent. Short Course in 1934 and plans to take an advanced course this summer in the manufacture of articles from leather tanned at home.

YEARS SAVED IN PRODUCING DISEASE-RESISTANT PLANTS.

To satisfy the urgent and often frantic demands of canners and seedsmen for vegetables resistant to disease—but of good quality—Federal plant breeders are developing new varieties in about one-third the usual time by growing several generations in 1 year. Wild-resistant peas and mosaic-tolerant beans are examples. In 1934 investigators in the United States Department of Agriculture were able to produce 4 generations of beans—3 in the greenhouse and 1 in the field, and 4 generations of peas—1 in the greenhouse and 3 in the field.

Ordinarily 15 to 20 generations are needed to produce a resistant variety, fix the type and increase it to where there is seed enough for commercial distribution. With only one generation a year, growers in distress because of an invasion of disease may be forced to abandon certain lands or the crop itself before the plant breeder can give aid.

To develop pure strains of quality, it usually is necessary to cross with less desirable—but resistant—types, and then make repeated selections for 7 to 12 generations. Most of this can be done in the greenhouse until the production of seed in quantities begins.

Rapid increase of the seed outdoors may be done in a number of interesting ways. Growing seed crops south of the Equator during northern winters is theoretically the best, but high costs, long sea voyages, and local unfamiliarity with American varieties are drawbacks. American peas have been successfully grown in New Zealand, and growing off-season crops in Argentina or other southern countries has been investigated.

Three generations of peas can ever be grown in North America in one year, by harvesting in Mexico in March, in California in June and in Colorado in time for planting in Mexico in November.

The problem of growing and harvesting more than one generation of beans a year without greenhouse conditions, is more difficult, as they are sensitive to low temperatures. If some frost protection is provided in the extreme south, it is probable that beans could be harvested there in time for June or July planting in states to the north.

There was an average of four failures a week during June against six the previous month and three during June last year, according to a report of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Total liabilities of the bankrupt firms for the month were $250,000, an increase of 8 per cent over the previous month and 29 per cent above the similar month last year. Assets of the bankrupt firms totaled $133,000, an increase of 40 per cent over the month before and 129 per cent above June last year. Average liability per failure, $14,706, was 40 per cent above the previous month and 29 per cent greater than in the similar month last year.

By using barn yard fertilizer on their land, Charles Lee and John H. Traweck, San Saba county 4-H club boys, have both exceeded their fathers in the production of corn. Charles Lee planted his corn in three foot checks, manuring each hill. He will make seven or eight bushels more per acre than his father who planted his corn on unfertilized land. John H. Traweck planted 3-foot rows thick, which he thinned to a stand by cutting out the weaker stalks. He will average 10 bushels or more per acre in excess of the amount produced by his father. His father planted his corn on the same kind of land but planted less per acre to avoid thinning.

Tomato growers in the Votaw community in Hardin county realized more than $30,000 from the 1935 crop which amounted to 44 cars. Due to the late freeze, growers were forced to market this season in direct competition with the Valley and north Florida crops. The shipment this year was the largest number of cars ever shipped in one season. The next largest was the 1934 crop which amounted to 34 cars. Although only 10 more cars were shipped in 1935, the 1935 crop returned to the growers three times as much actual cash, Barrett said.

New passenger car registrations in fifteen representative Texas counties for the first five months of 1935 were well above those of the corresponding period a year ago, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Total sales during the month of May were 5,275 cars, a decline of 5 per cent from the previous month and 1.9 per cent from May, 1934. Aggregate sales for the first five months of the year were 27,654 cars, an increase of 32.8 per cent over the corresponding period last year.
